David represents a diverse group of clients, including public and private companies and strategic and financial parties, in connection with mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, commercial finance and other significant business transactions.

David represents companies and investors in capital raising transactions, including private debt and equity offerings, mezzanine financings, and private equity and venture capital transactions. He also represents corporate borrowers and financial institutions in commercial loan transactions and related matters, including workout situations.

David handles many other corporate and contractual matters, including corporate and limited liability company structuring and governance, as well as preparation and negotiation of commercial agreements. He also advises clients with respect to securities and other corporate and regulatory matters.

While in law school, David was Associate Editor of the University of Illinois Law Review.
